In detail

Bernd Stange was called into the East German youth team, however an injury ruined a top-flight career in the game. He continued to play for local side Chemie Gnashwitz in the lower divisions until 1965 and later spent a year at Vorwärts Bautzen before joining HSD DHfK Leipzig, spending the rest of his playing days there until retiring in 1970. He went into coaching with FC Carl Zeiss Jena winning the GDR league title and the GDR Cup twice. After a successful 6-year spell with the national team, Stange returned to FC Carl Zeiss Jena, now in the unified German Bundesliga and later moved to coach Hertha Berlin.
