

Jim Steele

Leading Peak Performance Expert and Leadership Coach

CSA CELEBRITY SPEAKERS

Jim Steele is a director of a mindset and behavioural change organisation that works with some 300 UK companies and around 40,000 delegates a year. The company delivers bespoke training solutions along with the highly successful "Breakthrough to Peak Performance" programme which Jim jointly developed.

"We are delighted with the positive impact you have had on our teams and look forward to them delivering extraordinary results!"

Director, GlaxoSmithKlin

In detail

Jim Steele began his career as a life insurance salesman and when 'shadowing' one of the company's peak performers he made a discovery that would re-shape his whole life. He realised there are definable strategies of mindset and behaviour that that can propel an average performer towards excellence. He became a tireless reader, gradually piecing together his own unique take on peak performance. He acts as a leadership coach for senior executives at many FTSE 100 and international corporations, including Disney, BT, Goldman Sachs, Marks & Spencer and Glaxo Smith Kline.

What he offers you

Jim's keynotes are accessible and highly practical. He explains cutting edge performance strategies and offers delegates the necessary tools to apply these methods in any area of their life.

How he presents

His passion for excellence has led him to address audiences worldwide and his energy, insight and great sense of humour creates a massive impact whenever he is on stage.
