

Jonathan MacDonald

Thought Leader and Entrepreneur in Digital Media

CSA CELEBRITY SPEAKERS

Jonathan MacDonald is one of the world's most in-demand and internationally renowned strategic changemakers, unlocking success for individuals and businesses who are shaping the future. He is also an award-winning, bestselling author.

"Jonathan is one of the leading keynote speakers in the world"

In detail

With a background in retail, entertainment and strategy, Jonathan has been creating and advising businesses for over three decades. He was the youngest ever Chairman of the British Music Industries Association. Later, as Commercial Director for Ministry of Sound, he turned an analogue company into a digital powerhouse. He also launched the first-ever Sky TV station specifically for musicians. Most recently he founded SELF, a hyper-personal, AI-powered assistant that learns your personal preferences and simplifies your life, whilst you retain ownership and control of your data. He has also advised well-known, blue-chip companies including Google, Microsoft, Apple, P&G, Unilever, Nestle, Lego, Heineken, Sony and IKEA.

What he offers you

Jonathan enables people and organisations to modify their approach from one-off change management to the management of perpetual change. His exceptional insights are often the catalyst that a business needs to grow because of change, helping them to shape the future of the market and open up new revenue opportunities.

How he presents

Jonathan has an impactful delivery style and highly engaging personal charisma. He consistently receives the highest feedback of any speaker on the circuit and leaves a lasting impact on every audience who has the pleasure of hearing him, which translates into tangible, bottom-line business benefit.

Languages

He presents in English.
