

Peter Goldmark

Director of the US Climate and Air Program for Environmental Defense

CSA CELEBRITY SPEAKERS

Peter Goldmark currently directs the Climate and Air program for Environmental Defense. Previously, he was the Chairman and CEO of the International Herald Tribune. Peter has had exceptional careers in the public and private sectors, including serving as executive director of the Port Authority of New York and NJ. Peter also served as budget director for the State of New York during New York City's financial crisis and was an architect of its rescue.

"Deep within, each one of us bears the terrible ache to see things "put better" in this world."

In detail

After leaving Harvard with a BA in Government Studies, Peter first worked as a history teacher before working for the U.S. Government and then as Assistant Director of Budget and Executive Assistant to the Mayor of New York. Peter continued in local government as Secretary of human services for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. He also served as President of the Rockefeller Foundation, encouraging involvement in environmental issues, particularly as they related to energy.

What he offers you

Peter talks in depth about the current political, social and economical implications of climate change and global warming. He offers audiences the benefit of his considerable expertise and shows organisations ways in which they can balance economic growth and help to maintain a healthy environment.

How he presents

A charismatic and engaging speaker, Peter's presentations are immaculately prepared and filled with far-reaching insights.

Languages

He presents in English.

Want to know more?

Give us a call or send us an e-mail to find out exactly what he could bring to your event.

How to book him?

Simply phone, fax or e-mail us.

Topics

How Should we Expand our Energy Conservation Efforts
Global Warming
Climate Change
The Effects of Globalisation
The Environment