

Tom McClean

First Man in History to Row the Atlantic Single-Handed

CSA CELEBRITY SPEAKERS

Tom McClean, became the first man in history to row the Atlantic single-handed while serving with the SAS. Using his personal survival instincts and with no previous knowledge of sea conditions, he completed his perilous journey in a 20ft-long open Dory in 70 days. In 1982, Tom achieved the world record for sailing the world's smallest yacht across the Atlantic and repeated the feat the following year in 1983 in an even shorter vessel.

"Tom McClean is a pioneer adventurer"

In detail

Tom McClean's wackiest adventure was to design and help build a 37ft long Bottle shaped boat Typhoo Atlantic Challenger which he sailed from New York to Falmouth, followed a year later by a 3,000 mile voyage around Europe in the same craft. In 1994 he began his largest and most ambitious project to date - the construction of Moby - Prince of Whales! The world's only 65 ft long, 25 foot high giant whale shaped boat was launched in 1996 into the Moray Firth. Sea trials took place among the dolphins and Tom recently completed a circumnavigation of Britain. His next intention is to embark on an exciting adventure in the Moby - Prince of Whales crossing the Atlantic from London to New York and back again.
